OBAN and BAY from the SOUTH. A fashionable watering place in Argyllshire and the principal headquarters for tourists in the Western Highlands. It is situated on a beautiful and almost land-locked bay, sheltered by mountains in the background, and by the Island of Kerrera on the west. It possesses splendid steamboat facilities, and in the summer the bay is crowded with yachts and pleasure craft.

Is not this a delightful spot. When are you likely to be in town. Please send me your address. I was in London a fortnight ago, but I heard you were still in Dresden. Love to mother & self. Maura Kelly
